CECE AND TONY

Cece and Tony bid farewell to their home in Texas several months ago to embark on a journey to California.

Since their arrival, they have had trouble finding a stable place to live. They occasionally stay with friends but spend most nights sleeping in their car.

Recently, Cece got a job at Amazon. She is excited about employment but knows they still need to find stable, affordable housing. While looking at local resources, Cece and Tony found River City Food Bank and decided to give it a try. They were thrilled with their experience and appreciated the options for guests who do not have a kitchen.

Tony and Cece also learned that they could use their CalFresh (EBT) dollars to purchase healthy, fresh food at local farmers markets. They couldn't help but compare the freshness of the food they selected at River City Food Bank to the fruit and vegetables at the farmers market!

At RCFB, they found a sense of belonging and community. The staff and volunteers treated them with care and respect and created an environment where they feel valued.
